Clear demonstration of complementary franchise under strict underwriting discipline

- SCOR and Converium portfolios successfully combined. Reinforced relationships with existing clients and enlarged client base
- Portfolio attrition of ~ €60 million (on 79% of P&C Treaties premiums up for renewal in January 2008): In line with the €80 million Dynamic Lift V2 estimates for the full year
- Attrition outweighed with business from new clients (€49 million) and with new and/or restructured business from existing clients (€96 million)
- On pure SCOR treaties the impact of cancellation, restructuring and 1/1/2008 re-underwriting leads to a decrease by €44 million
- Common treaties decrease by €74 million due to attrition, cancellation, 1/1/2008 restructuring and re-underwriting impact
- Pure Converium treaties decline (-20%) is due to the impact of underwriting policy alignment, attrition, cancellation, restructuring and 1/1/2008 re-underwriting

Selective underwriting policy generates stable premium income for 2/3 of the business book

- Property Proportional: Overall stable premium income due to strong market presence in Italy, Germany and the Middle East despite a continuing move from proportional to non-proportional in Eastern Europe, Austria and Canada - moderate increase of reinsurance commissions on average by 1 to 2 points depending on past results

- Motor Proportional: Premium increases in a limited number of countries such as the UK and Italy where the primary rates are increasing or holding. Reinsurance commissions are stable

- Property Non-Proportional Cat: Negative trend in rates: -5% in Europe but rates increase in treaties affected by Kyrill in Germany; -10% in the Americas and Asia. Overall market remains disciplined

- Motor Non-Proportional: Premiums mainly driven by the French Market which benefits from rate increases of around 10%

- Property Non-Proportional: Trend of reinsurance rates depends on the region under consideration. On average, rates decrease by around 4%

- Casualty Proportional: Premiums decrease due to shift from proportional to non-proportional cover and SCOR’s decision to reduce lines in certain markets with heavy casualty exposures

- Casualty Non Proportional: Rates quasi stable in Europe; decrease of around 6% in North America
Successful P&C Treaties renewals lead to stable premium income worldwide

Key highlights | Global P&C January 2008 renewal performance by segments | Outlook

Europe, Middle East and Africa: Overall a quasi stable premium income due to premium increases in Italy, the UK, France and the Middle East countries. Due to a shift from proportional to non-proportional cover, premium income decreases in Eastern European countries. Growth in the UK is driven by an increase in the Motor proportional book of business. Italian growth mainly comes from proportional Property and Motor treaties. In Germany the decline in premiums is mainly due to the contraction of the proportional Liability book of business. Western European countries are affected by a move from proportional to non-proportional cover.

Americas: A stable premium income compared to 2007 fuelled by growth of around 23% in US small / medium-sized regional company portfolios. Due to a shift from proportional to non-proportional, premium income in Canada decreases. In the Caribbean, premium income decreases by around 7% in line with the SCOR’s reduction of Cat capacity allocated to this region in order to monitor the Caribbean/US clash.

Asia: Only around 30% of Global P&C Treaties were up for renewal on 1 January 2008 (Japan, Korea and India renew on April 1).

Active & prudent cycle management in Specialty Treaties

By Line of Business

- Credit & Surety: Contraction in reinsurance premiums due to economic slowdown impact on direct insurance premiums and increased retentions by lead primary carriers

- Decennial affected by a major shift from proportional to non-proportional cover and a slowdown in new real estate business in Spain, in an overall stable pricing environment

- Engineering volume driven by recapturing of lost shares and business development in emerging markets in a booming investment environment, with a low single-digit decrease in primary insurance rates

- Agriculture: Growing market driven by increasing commodity prices and WTO liberalization with stable to slightly decreasing reinsurance rates

- Transport & Marine: Renewals at basically unchanged market terms and conditions
